~ Beaded in Morse Code ~

MORSE CODE SPIRIT celebrates the work of a very spiritually devoted man, whose purpose in creating the telegraph and Morse Code was nothing less than the service of mankind. His invention instantaneously brought the world closer together in communication, single-handedly ushering in the information age. Mr. Morse was also a renowned artist, painting portraits of many notable persons, including the president of the United States and the whole House of Representatives in session! In addition, he was also known as the Father of Photography in America, teaching the well-known photographer, Matthew Brady, who took President Lincoln’s photograph. Morse knew his invention would change the world. His language, Morse Code, although rarely used today even by the military, is now brought back to life in the way in which it was born, speaking spiritually, from Scripture - as in the first official message sent May 24, 1844, “WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT?”
